Two One Act Plays to be Given Tomorrow Night at the Playhouse

Middlebury Campus

Alumni Home-coming Will Be Held the Week-end of November 7 and 8

VOL. XXIX. MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, MIDDLEBURY, VT., OCTOBER 28, 1931 No. 5

INITIAL PROGRAM OF ONE ACT PLAYS WILL BE GIVEN TOMORROW

"Release" and "The Bracelet" are Presented by the Dramatic Club

TRAGEDY INCLUDES CAST OF FIVE MEN

Gunman Play is Entirely Different in Type and Action

The program of the Middlebury College dramatic club gets under way officially tomorrow night with the presentation of a program of one act plays at the playhouse.

The plays which will be given are "The Bracelet" by Alfred Sutro, and "Release" by Edward Smith. The dramas are of entirely different type. The former is a play of English society of the upper middle class and has to do with the unusual situation arising when a bracelet is lost. The other play is more of the forceful type and concerns the fate of four criminals faced with the possibility of the electric chair. This play is especially noteworthy because of insight which it gives to the criminal mind and its psychological reaction in moments of great peril. Much of the effectiveness of this play depends upon the uniqueness of the stage set which has been carfeully prepared.

The plays have been in rehearsal for the past two weeks with the following casts:

The sets and stage scenery have been designed by the members of the play production class assisted by the following members of the dramatic club: Raymond Harwood '32, Randolph Erskine '34, Harriet Douglas '33, Winnifred

Any particulars regarding the papers can be obtained from Professor Goodreds or Gray Taylor. Also any coaching or aid in preparing the speeches will be available through the speech department.

A further announcement will be made concerning the prizes. The number of these will be determined by a faculty committee judging on the number and quality of the entries.

The Merrill prizes were established in 1882 by a bequest of Rev. Thomas Abbott Merrill, trustee of Middlebury College.

LAST GROUP PICTURES TO BE TAKEN SUNDAY

Kaleidoscope Plans Proceed Rapidly With Pictures and Activity Sheets Returned

All proofs for the individual pictures of the 1933 Kaleidoscope were received Monday from White Studio of New York City. At that time the students pictures were distributed and were personally returned yesterday to Miss Harvey, a representative of the studio.

With the receipt of the proofs it has been discovered that the photographer, Mr. Ebenhek, has been very generous with the number of poses taken. On the whole the class seems to be well satisfied with the work. It is to be noted that this is the first year that proofs have been given the individual which are not of the fading variety.

The photographer wishes to emphasize that the proofs are very rough in their form and that the final prints will eliminate many of the present irregularities. Finished portraits will be delivered within two weeks C. O. D.

Class editors, Frederick Brink and Amy Niles, have received most of the junior activity sheets. It is hoped that the few who have not handed them in will cooperate by doing so at once. This material will not go to the printer at once, but is needed so that the literary editors will be able to judge the length of the junior writeups. Any further activities will be added to this list in the course of the first semester by the class editors.

Fraternity and group pictures will be taken Sunday according to the following schedule:

9:45 Band
10:00 Beta Psi
10:15 Chi Psi
10:30 Delta Upsilon
10:45 Kappa Delta Rho

New Student Directory is Ready for Distribution

A new college directory was issued today. This year the publication is in circulation as the Middlebury College Bulletin, previously the Middlebury College Directory.

The compilation of this bulletin has been under the direction of Miss Bristol, the registrar. It will contain the names and addresses of all students, faculty, and officers. The women's names will be divided into two parts, those who are entered in Middlebury College, and those who are entered in the Women's College at Middlebury. Like last year's directory the new bulletin will contain a summary by classes displaying the total number of undergraduates. There will be a geographical representation showing which state has the most citizens in the student body.

Autograph Letters to be Exhibited in Library Thurs.

An exhibition of interesting and unusual autograph letters will be held in the Abernethy Wing of the Egbert Starr library tomorrow, October 29.

The group of letters on exhibit numbers between thirty and forty. Some of them have been loaned to the college for the occasion but the majority of them are gifts. The works of five modern authors have been presented to the library through the kindness of Phillip Cummings, a graduate student.

This is a fine opportunity for all those interested in examining old letters. Some contained in the collection, which will be on display, date as far back as 1816. There are letters of authors, editors, publishers, both personal and business. A part of them are bound into books.

NOVEMBER 10 FIRST DATE FOR SAXONIAN

All Contributions for This Issue Must Be Handed in by Friday of This Week

The Saxonian board has announced the following dates of the first semester issues: November 10, December 15, and January 30.

These dates have been arranged in accordance with the newly adopted policy of publishing six issues annually. The specific time for each issue was chosen taking into consideration particular seasons, as the Christmas issue for December 15.

Material for the issue of November 10 must be in the hands of the editors or in the Saxonian box at the book store by Friday, October 30. However, contributions handed in after this date will be considered for the following issue. Prospective contributors are reminded again that the Saxonian, as a college magazine, is open for contributions from any undergraduate.

An entirely new format will be used on this next issue, and it is expected that the general appearance of the Saxonian will be greatly improved. Complete revisions are to be made with regard to the cover, size, type, margin width, and make-up of such pages as the frontispiece and the title page.

Perhaps the most noticeable feature of the new format is the cover, which will henceforth be limp, overlapping, and not illustrated. The frontispiece will be in the nature of an illustrated poem, or some thought produced in art-work. The title page and table of contents are to be standardized, and throughout the magazine a larger and more modern type will be used. In order to preserve the same number of words to a page as former issues, the margins will be widened and spaces between letters and words decreased. In addition to this the size of the book will be slightly altered.

Plans regarding the short story contest conducted annually by the Saxonian are now being formulated, and the final instructions will be announced in the next issue of the CAMPUS.

Music Department Presents Piano and Violin Recital

A piano and violin recital of the sonatas of Beethoven and Mozart was presented last night at 8:00 o'clock in the studio of Lewis J. Hathaway.

Professor Hathaway, Miss Prudence Fish, and Mr. Fritz Tiller took part in the program.

Two of Mozart's sonatas comprised the first half of the program. Professor Hathaway played as a piano solo Sonata IX (Theme and Variations). Sonata No. X for piano and violin was rendered by Mr. Tiller, accompanied by Miss Fish at the piano.

The first Beethoven sonata, opus 14, No. 1, was played by Professor Hathaway and consisted of three movements, allegro, allegretto, and rondo. Miss Fish and Mr. Tiller ended the program with the allegro con brio movement of Sonata No. VII.

FUND AWARD TO GO TO SOPHOMORE MAN

Faculty Tea After Game is New Feature of Annual Event

Middlebury College annual home-coming celebration will take place the week-end of November 7 and 8. A special program of events has been planned for the occasion by Edgar J. Wiley, secretary of the associated alumni.

The outstanding feature of the week-end will be the Middlebury-Norwich football game at Porter field, Saturday afternoon. This game, being one of the state championship matches, will hold a great deal of interest for both undergraduates and alumni. Reservations for seats in the alumni section of the grandstand may be ordered from Prof. A. M. Brown, director of athletics, not later than 6:00 p. m., November 3. The price of admission is $1.50.

Another item of particular interest to undergraduates is the presentation of an alumni award of $250.00 to the outstanding man of the class of 1934. This will be made during the Saturday chapel service by Mr. J. Earle Parker '01, chairman of the fund. The first awards in the three upper classes were made at the mid-winter home-coming in February, 1931.

Saturday morning there will be a chance for those alumni wishing to do

PLANS FOR MOUNTAIN CLUB ARE ANNOUNCED

Proceeds of Ticket Sale to Be Used for Purchase of New Supply of Equipment

The plans formulated for the Mountain club activities were announced yesterday by John A. Storm, president of the club.

The hike which was planned for this Sunday, November 1, has had to be postponed on account of the Kaleidoscope group pictures which are to be taken that day. The trip will, however, be taken Sunday, November 8. The club will go to Burnt Hill lookout and Boyce lodge. There will be other organized hikes on November 29, December 6, January 17 and January 31. The places chosen to visit will depend on weather conditions. Following the Christmas recess, the snow will be suitable for skii and snowshoe trips which will be made frequently. The ticket sale for membership in the organization is well under way on the women's side of the hill and will begin on the men's side this week. Tickets may be secured from any member of the executive board which is as follows: John Storm '32, chairman, David Lawton '32, Chester Clemens '33, Charles Hickox '34, Douglas Jocelyn '34, Betty Brown '32, Josephine Saunders '32, Elly Delfs '32, Mary Omwake '33, and Dorothy Wheaton '33.

Due to the great amount of interest shown in the club this year by the sale of tickets, the authorities will be able to purchase a greater amount of equipment. Several parties have already made use of the present equipage which is at the dean's office and they have found it very satisfactory. Up to this time there is at the disposal of club members knapsacks, coffee pots, frying pans, first aid kits, axes, etc. It is hoped that the students will make use of this equipment.

LET THE FRESHMAN CHOOSE.

Under the present system of rushing the freshman does not exercise his right to choose a fraternity. Instead of that the fraternity chooses him. While apparently he is supposed to select his fraternity from the written bids sent to him, he actually gives his verbal pledge early in the rushing period, thereby causing other fraternities to drop him, and himself to receive an invitation from that one fraternity only. We seek the preservation of the freshman's right of final decision.

The whole trouble is caused by the haste with which freshmen make their decisions. They believe that unless they join before the rushing season is over that they will be ostracized for all time. Few of them know and fewer still believe that such a thing as late pledging can be really successful.

Another cause for men coming into fraternities for which they are not fitted is that the houses go after the men to get them solely for what they can do. Personality receives no attention. Nobody ever stops to ask whether a man is of the right sort; it is merely the activities in which a freshman is interested and what promise he shows to be of "benefit" to the house that are considered. This is usually an objective regard, but at any rate the whole matter is thought of only from the viewpoint of the fraternity. Whether the man himself will receive any benefit or true pleasure in the union is given no thought.

These misfits cause the fraternity to cease to be a social organization. Yet that is exactly what it should be. When it no longer is such a group, it loses all right to live. The fraternity is not founded as an eating club. Its purpose is not to get men on the team. It is not to create leaders in extra curricular activities. The aim of the fraternity should be to make the four years of college life more worth the living. And this job is tremendously important. The true success of college depends upon the fraternity as much as any other thing, for after all one's success is truly gauged by his happiness and it is the college fraternity which really assures the obtaining of this happiness during one's college career. If it does not bring this about it is an abject failure.

If the fraternities are to function to the best advantage good fellowship must prevail. Every man must pledge with the right group and the rushing system should be of the sort to make this pledging possible. We believe that if the freshman were allowed more choice in the matter many of the evils of present haste would be avoided.

In order for the freshman to exercise really his own free will we would advocate the freshman's indicating to the interfraternity council his first three preferences, among the fraternities that have rushed him. Each house would send to the interfraternity council a list of those men to whom they desire to extend a bid. A combination of the lists would place the freshman in the fraternity which really desires him. His decision would not be the result of rushing talks more forceful than true.

"The Story of Julian", by Susan Ertz, New York, D. Appleton & Co.

Julian Probert and Hildegarde Beaumont were very much in love, and therefore, very happy. Because of that fact they were doubly aware of the unhappiness in the lives of those about them. They knew, for instance, that Julian's father and mother were husband and wife in name only, and that while the wife thought her husband an atheist, (he was a noted Physicist), the husband deplored the fact that his wife was practically a religious fanatic. Julian and Hildegarde also shared the secret of the unhappy love affair between Mr. Probert and the brilliant Pauline Trellet, (unhappy because it had to be kept secret.) Then there was the rather scandalous affair between Pauline's middle aged father and the beautiful but deceitful Sandra Devereaux. Julian, himself, found himself involved in a mental struggle. Should he take his mother's part, or should he side with his father. Emotionally he was like the former, and was easily moved by her tears and entreaties. Intellectually he was his father's son, however, and thus his situation was not always happy or easy. Still, he and Hildegarde were very much in love — so what did these other things amount to?

Then he and Hildegrade were thoughtless, (or sleepy) enough to be caught taking a sun bath, and their little world came tumbling about their ears. Hildegrade's parents whisked her off to the continent, leaving the unhappy Julian to face the innuendoes of public opinion. The result was an unsuccessful attempt at suicide on his part. The book ends with Julian in a hospital, awaiting the return of Hildegarde, looking forward to her coming though hardly knowing what the future may bring.

The author has done an admirable piece of work in her character development. Julian, with his conflicting emotions and thoughts, is very human. The Probert household, with its estranged husband and wife, estranged because they have no common ground on which to meet, is real. The Trellet home, with its middle aged father, Pauline, and the weaker Bruce, is life-like. Hildegarde is an adorable girl. The book has been well mentioned by numerous reviewers, and after reading it one does not hesitate to agree with them in their favorable comment.

"Ether and Me" or "Just Relax", by Will Rogers, New York, G. B. Putnam's Sons, $1.00.

This is just Will Rogers all over again, at his best. No comment necessary.

"Ether and Me" tells about his operation, one which he says people don't name. It's not like appendicitis, a fashionable operation. They had a consultation — four doctors. Will says it is remarkable how they all stood by each other. And he overheard a remark how they all stood by each other. And he overheard a remark after it was over, "We'll do as much for you some day."

Well, he sort of dreaded the operation, but when he got an eye on the nurse, he decided that perhaps it would be best to go through with it. The thing that bothered him was that just as they were taking him into the operating room on the wagon and he was trying to think up a last comic gag to pull, a nurse shoved a big rubber hose over his mouth, and spoiled it all.

Will says he can always tell what kind of visitors he is having at his house in Beverly Hills. If they make the hill in front on high, the whole family goes to the door. If they have to shift once, he sends the maids — pardon me, the maid; but if they stall completely, everybody ducks out of sight and nobody is at home.

"Ether and Me" is all right. You won't go wrong on it, and you will surely get a laugh — good medicine.

Shreds and Patches

It ought to be good this week. There is a book in the library on how to write a column, under the locally printed caption: "Are you out for the press club?" The significance of this escapes us, but here goes.

Fall is a great season anywhere, but at Middlebury it makes a feller want to go out and do big things. There not being any convenient elephants to wash, most of us have to be content with dashing off papers on "Literature; what is it?" and "Civilization how about it?" It is rumored that God is next to be solved, in five paragraphs.

On the subject of the weather, it begins to look as though the campus would be moved some miles south, if this gale doesn't abate soon.

Eugene O'Neill's latest opus "Mourning Becomes Electra" was given to an eager, albeit long suffering audience this past Monday afternoon. It's in three parts and as we understand it Electra was a lady who looked well in black, hence the title. At any rate, it looks as though the Guild could settle down for a nice long run, forgetting all the nasty things the critics and George Jean Nathan said about Mr. Savoir's ill-fated "He", and the naughty things we're saying about this typewriter ribbon.

The juniors have the photographic proofs back and are bemoaning the fact that Mr. White was mean enough to-face them, thus ruining them as Xmas gifts for Uncle Archibald and Aunt Emma. May we suggest that tattooing the chin might make the illusion an actuality.

After seeing "Five Star Faithful" mmmm — that typewriter again — "Five Star Final" it was (of course it's not an original gag; Winchell, MacIntyre and Broun all stole it from a Newark sheet, but it's good, yes?) we are wondering about the whole business. On second thought, well keep right on publishing this stuff. Yah!

And the new pledge buttons which blossomed forth on every lapel over the week-end . . . . . Charlie Rich calmly sits back and rakes in on the excess silver polish sold to keep them scintillating.

Don't you appreciate our not commenting on the successful return of Dr. Sholes, our Deans, and certain Sociology classes from the old home week celebration held at Waterbury last Wednesday? The regular boarders at the institution report a thoroughly entertaining afternoon.

Realizing the importance of individual effort in the present campaign against immorality, North Star steps into prominence as the operative center of the new anti-profanity league. "Make home safe for little sister." With awful penalties, enthusiastically and manfully applied, the boys are reducing the vocabulary to "fiddlesticks!" to be used in emergency.

Well, acording to schedule, Thespis will put his shirt on and strut before the local drama lovers at the playhouse tomorrow night. We understand Dr. Yerovitz is again to suffer a gruesome death for the greater glory of the drama. Some day, we hope he'll have a chance to get on the winning side of the game. At least, he's had enough practice so his demise tomorrow night should be well nigh perfect.

We see a local merchant has gone Zeigfield. The idea of glorifying the most beautiful co-ed with coat and what-not is clever and should give some little girl a great big addition to her wardrobe. Gaytees are only vulcanized goloshes so sit back and pipe down you evil-minded oaf!

Much as we dislike to congratulate the archbishop of the local cathedral of the cinema, we must admit that "Tabu" was an unusually fine choice. Not only was the pedagogic flavor of the National Geographic magazine totally absent, but the director even refrained from going De Mille with built-in bath-tubs and burleycue ladies. After all, it really is mighty hard to beat nature at her own game.

CLEANLINESS TOPIC OF SUNDAY VESPERS

Rev. Henry Wicks Says Habit is Important, Ten Times as Strong as Nature

The Rev. Henry Wicks of Roxbury, Mass., addressed the student body at the Vesper service Sunday evening, October 25, using as his text, "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse himself, according to Thy word."

He said in part: "If we know a man's principles and character, we can predict what his life action will be where two ways part and he chooses. He will act wisely or unwisely, justly or unjustly as his wont is. Habit is ten times nature.

"How shall we make our habits clean? It is a fine thing to ask this, especially if the question be asked with a high conception of cleanliness. What does God count as clean? Are we approved in His sight? This thought will purify our deeds.

"Do the thing that is right. It will bring you peace. Just as the United States cannot afford to have undesirable aliens in her midst, so we must attempt to restrict what comes into our life. If one would have salvation in the largest sense of the word, he must keep his heart clean with all diligence.

"Whatever creed be taught, Conscience is the oracle of God. Conscience is infallible within certain narrow limits, but it needs to be educated. If we would be clean in God's sight we need to think about our conduct and seek the best instructions as to what our conduct should be. This instruction can be found in Jesus. He will give us our great principles.

"Find out the teachings of Jesus about conduct and follow them. If you crown Christ as your King, you will find a new power in yourself. Get Christ into your heart and yours shall be the music of a clean life."

NEW RUSHING RULES CRITICIZED BY MEN

Statements Received From Fraternities After Season Indicate Their Approval

The interfraternity council put into effect this year a revised system of rushing for the men's college. To determine student reaction to these changes, the CAMPUS has obtained a group of statements from the various fraternities. The general opinion indicates that the new system is an improvement over last year, but this is qualified with criticism of the present system. Each fraternity has offered specific suggestions for additional improvement.

The statements follow:

Chi Psi

Concerning the new form of rushing, Chi Psi favors the rule requiring freshmen to keep their dates. Under this years system the time of rushing is inopportune. It should come, to secure the best results, either the first week of college or else during the sophomore year. The present system handicaps the upperclassmen and tends to give the freshmen a wrong viewpoint.

Delta Kappa Epsilon

The four week rushing period was all right in that it gave men a better opportunity to know each other, but rushing period came at a busy time in the year. The week of peace preceding rushing seemed to be a matter of backwater on the part of the fraternities for whom it was impossible to combine studies, extracurricula activities, and rushing.

The compulsory date rule was excellent (it is national) but ours was too prolonged in certain respects. When a man visits six houses and knows immediately that he will not go any one of four but narrows his choice down to two or three, it seems unfair to compel him in such a position to keep dates at all six houses on the third and fourth days of rushing, as he must sit through several hours of grilling during an evening. This rule was also a disadvantage to certain fraternities in that they automatically entertained more men and did not concentrate on the few whom they possibly could have pledged.

As a result of four days of compulsory dates, the fifth day being one of freshman's choice, was such a let down that cut-throat rushing was inevitable. The quiet period from 11 p. m. Friday until 10 a. m. on Saturday was one of numerous explosions involving not only fraternity men but freshmen and fraternity men together. Here-in comes our statement that "why have rules if they aren't going to be enforced?"

Regarding forfeiture of a $300 bond for infraction of rules. If this forfeiture is continued it should be made to read that the bond is forfeited merely for pledging over fifteen men. It is reasonable that a fraternity will not pledge great numbers of men as the best houses are strong through the quality of the men they pledge. Since the amount of the bond is no drawback in pledging a good man why post money at all.

Delta Kappa Epsilon feels that the present system of rushing is much better than first week rushing but finally — there is much room for improvement.

Delta Upsilon

Delta Upsilon finds that the system of rushing newly instituted is an improvement over the old. The idea of giving the freshmen ample time to themselves during the first two weeks gives them a better chance to regard the fraternity situation from a more unbiased point of view. The compulsory dates of the first four days tends to assure each fraternity a date with any and all first year men they wish to see.

On the other hand this fraternity believes that the visiting periods of the third week of the college year could readily be abandoned and rushing week moved up to its place. More clearly defined penalties for infraction of rushing rules by any fraternity would also be a forward step.

Kappa Delta Rho

Kappa Delta Rho considers the new system of rushing quite successful in view of the fact that it makes possible a more intimate acquaintance between rushees and fraternities than last year's system allowed.

With regard to continuance of this system it is felt that a more satisfactory arrangement might be brought about by eliminating the "no-rushing" period prior to formal rushing and setting the latter back a week. It is also suggested that after a freshman or transfer has visited all of the fraternities rushing him, he be given the privilege of breaking such future dates as he sees fit. With these suggested changes there is reason to believe that the system might prove even more successful than it did this year.

Beta Kappa

Beta Kappa feels that the new system of rushing adopted this year was preferable to that of last year in many respects. The feature of inviting prospective men down by volition and thus avoiding the necessity of entertaining the entire class for the first two days was less burdensome.

In way of suggestion for improvement, the rather general criticism of both the fraternities and the freshmen regarding too intensive rushing during the three weeks preceding rushing week was justified and Beta Kappa believes that the periods of visiting might be shortened since the freshmen really find out more concerning the fraternity while at the house than on these rushing visits to the freshman's room. If the present enrollment of men is to be permanent the quota of men per house could well be reduced and a bonding system could be used whereby a certain amount be forfeited for the first man above the quota and additional amounts for all additional men.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Vermont Beta of Sigma Phi Epsilon considers the new rushing system to be quite satisfactory, and an improvement over last year's. The only suggestion for change that we would make, would be a delay of one week's time in beginning the visiting periods, so that there would be only two weeks of visiting as eventually became the case this season, but without the week of silence.

Incidentally it would also be well if the system of conceding dates during period "B" were defined in the rules, in order to eliminate the uncertainty existing in the minds of many fraternity men in regard to this procedure.

Great care should be exercised in order to prevent visiting after hours, some of which was done this season, and discussion of fraternity matters before permitted in the rules; as violation of these seemingly minor regulations leads to disrespect of the entire rushing code, both by freshmen and by upperclassmen.

Alpha Sigma Phi

The new fraternity rushing system as adopted this year has included several features which are a distinct improvement over the preceding method. The compulsory fulfillment of dates during the first periods worked to the advantage of both fraternity and freshmen. The postponement until the beginning of the fourth week allowed a general acquaintanceship to be made by all parties concerned and was thus beneficial.

There is only one suggestion which we can give for the theoretical betterment of the plan. Do not allow pledging agreements to take place on the first two days of rushing. This will eliminate any hasty decisions on the part of both fraternity and freshmen. Any other flaws in this system have arisen from the practical application and for the most part have probably been due to misunderstanding.

Beta Psi

Generally speaking we have little criticism of the system used this year. It was an improvement over last year. The longer pre-rushing season gave an added opportunity for meeting the freshmen, but it also afforded a fine chance for illegal rushing. We favor a progressive bond for overpledging, say $150 for each man pledged over the fifteen limit.

The chief danger to religion lies in the fact that it has become so respectable.—University of Delaware Review.

LIBRARY DISPLAYS POETRY OF ALUMNI

Current Works of Frost '28, Malam 28, and Peach '09, are in Special Exhibition

A display of the poetry of three Middlebury College alumni, Frances Frost ex-'28, Charles Malam '28, and Arthur W. Peach '09, which is found in recent magazines has been placed on view in the Egbert Starr library. The number of titles and the name of the periodicals in which each writer's work is printed has been listed as stated in the last issue of Reader's Digest.

Miss Frost, who is an instructor in the English department of the University of Vermont, has nine works catalogued. She is also the author of two books, "Hemlock Wall" and "Blue Harvest".

Mr. Malam has two poems on the list. He is well known as the author of "Slow Smoke", "City Keep", and "Spring Plowing".

Two poems of Mr. Peach '09, are also included. He is head of the English department of Norwich university and has been engaged in some very interesting work this year as the general editor of the committee on Vermont Traditions and Ideals. The committee, composed of public-spirited Vermont men and women, has sponsored the publication of the Green Mountain series of four Vermont books. A great amount of praise has been given these books and the idea back of them because they represent the first attempt of a people of one state to gather and publish in pleasing form the indigenous literature of their state.

PANTHERS TO OPPOSE CLARKSON SATURDAY

Injuries to Blue Gridsters Make Result of Third Home Game Uncertain

The Middlebury football team will face Clarkson Tech in their third home game of the season Saturday. It is very difficult to forecast the outcome of the game, as there is no direct way of comparing the two teams.

Of their five games to date, Clarkson has won three, defeating Hamilton 21-0, Rensselaer Polytech 13-7, and the University of Buffalo 13-0. Their two defeats were suffered at the hands of the powerful Cornell eleven, which steam-rollered its way to a 63-0 victory and Providence, 6-0. By a chain involving Springfield and R. P. I., comparitive scores would show the Engineers to be about a touchdown better than the Panthers, but this does not mean very much.

Against Providence, Clarkson made thirteen first downs while holding their opponents to two, yet lost due to a blocked kick. Providence has beaten Vermont 27-13 and Norwich 24-0. Since the comparitive strengths of Middlebury and the other state rivals is not known, this information is of little value.

As for the Clarkson team itself: the Engineers have a line averaging 180 pounds, an unusually fast back in Hutterman, and a hard fighting outfit. Captain Lyal Bennett, 194 pound left tackle has been one of the stars of the team, although he has only one arm. O'Driscoll, a guard, is fast and a good blocker, according to reports. The bulk of the offensive power is concentrated in the 135 pound Filipino quarterback, Hutterman. Last year, in the Middlebury-Clarkson frosh game, he scored one touchdown, and his passing was directly responsible for another. He is considered to be a good all-around player and also a good field general. The backfield is light, averaging only 152 pounds.

The chances of the Blue gridders are materially lessened by injuries. The Springfield game was especially hard on the players, Collins and Rosbrook receiving a broken leg and broken rib respectively. As a result, they are out for the season. The rest of the team was shaken up, with Corliss, Hoyle, and Reilly suffering minor injuries, although they will probably start Saturday's game. Markowski is still on the sick list, but Thrasher will be able to return to active service against the Green and Gold. Coach Beck will face a difficult problem in filling the tackle post if Hinman does not return in time for Saturday's contest.

The record of the Panthers so far this season is not particularly impressive, for although they have shown some offensive strength, they have been very weak on the defense, especially against fast clever backs as Bush and Hewitt. Against the Coast Guard, the team showed well, due to the line clicking together. The Springfield game can not be taken too seriously, as all of the regulars did not play. So much depends on the condition of the players, that it is impossible to predict the outcome of the coming game, although present indications would give Clarkson a slight edge.

Middlebury Cross Country Team Loses to Springfield

Middlebury's cross-country team met its first defeat of the season last Saturday at the hands of a strong and well balanced Springfield college team by the score 20-35 over the four and a half mile Springfield course. Captain Ray Harwood of Middlebury won in the good time of 28:18 but all chances for a Blue victory were cast away when he was followed to the tape by seven Maroon runners tying for second place.

The race was very close during the first part, the men being well grouped until the home stretch when the Panthers, handicapped by spikes in the paved streets, were soon outclassed. However, they put up a good fight and Harwood passed all the gymnasts to come in first.

The only really close finish was between R. Short and Rope. Short was pushed considerably by the Maroon harrier at the finish but put up a fast sprint to win over him.

While this meet was a decided victory for Springfield the Blue team was in no sense entirely outclassed as the course was unfamiliar and the runners were severely handicapped by the pavement over which a great deal of the race was run.

The results:

Harwood (M) 28-18, Olmstead (S) 28-21, Bacon (S) 28-21, Anderson (S) 28-21, Gibs (S) 28-21, Doyle (S) 28-21, Miller (S) 28-21, Watts (S) 28-21, R. Short (M) 28-42, Rope (S) 28-53, Phelps (S) 28-53, Jillson (H) 29-21, Seymour (M) 29-35, Glazier (M) 30-05, Sears (M) 30-05.

Score: Springfield 20; Middlebury 35.

FROSH TAKE PLEBES IN FOOTBALL BY 14-7

Middlebury '35 Team Wins From Norwich as Abbott and Boehm Star in Offense

The Middlebury freshman football team defeated the Norwich frosh team at Northfield by 14-7, Friday, October 23.

Outweighed in the line by an average of ten pounds to the man, and in the backfield slightly more than two pounds, the Blue and White played a more one-sided game than the score would indicate. Hampered by several penalties for off-side play, the team managed to keep the ball in Norwich territory for most of the game.

In the first quarter Allan of Middlebury and Cornell of Norwich exchanged a series of punts, but for the most part the ball was well into the plebe's territory.

Finally Hessler's men gathered their forces. Boehm returned a punt from the fifty-five to the forty yard line, and Allan and Abbott made sufficient yardage through tackle and around end for two first downs in succession. As the quarter ended, Boehm took the ball around right end to the one foot line.

The second quarter began with the touchdown on a line plunge by Abbott and a pass from Allan to Bakey for the point. Norwich again received and took the ball on the twenty-five yard line, where a lateral pass was intercepted in a few plays by Hiller, giving Middlebury the oval on the plebes' fifteen yard line. A big chance for a second score was missed by a fumble of Abbott on the four yard mark, and Norwich kicked out of danger to the forty yard line. A twenty yard pass from Allan to Zawistoski brought the ball fifteen yards from the last marker. Boehm took a lateral from Allan and slipped through the opposition for a touchdown. A dropkick from the toe of Allan added another point, making it 14-0 for Middlebury, early in the second quarter. An attempt at a passing attack by Norwich was not entirely successful, but two first downs were secured before the half ended, the ball on Middlebury's thirty yard line.

The third quarter passed uneventfully except for the stellar broken field running of Zawistoski, and a long pass for Norwich from Betts to McGuire, bringing the ball to Middlebury's forty-five yard line, where the quarter ended. In the last period, Norwich took the ball to the eight yard marker by a series of line bucks. Here it took three downs to move it to the two yard line. On the last down Boehm intercepted a pass from Cornell on the goal, and Abbott punted out of danger. But an exchange of punts brought the ball back again and another four downs succeeded in pushing it over. A place kick made the score 14-7, and the closing minutes were spent deep in Norwich territory.

Throughout the game the Middlebury line showed considerable difficulty in maintaining one hundred per cent performance against their heavy opponents, but this was possibly due to the strenuous week through which the men had passed. The broken field running of Boehm and Zawistoski gained much of the ground for Middlebury, while Abbott proved an able field general. Bakey gave a scrappy battle at left end during every minute of play, and Rumpf and Stafford spoiled several Norwich attempts by their ability in offense.

The summary:

Middlebury (14)		Norwich (7)

FRESHMEN WILL PLAY CLARK SCHOOL

Heavier Prep Team Favored to Win Over Yearlings on Strength of Record

The Middlebury freshman football team, victorious in their first state series game, will face tougher opposition when it encounters Clark school at Hanover, N. H., Saturday.

The Panther yearlings showed some strength in the game last Friday, notably in the backfield, but they cannot yet be said to be a strong team. The improvements shown in the last engagement are encouraging, however, and as time goes on, granted good weather, they ought to round into some better form, although the lightness of the whole team will be a decided drawback.

Some fine open field running showed up last Friday, sepecially on the part of Allan and Boehm, who has been shifted to the backfield since Nash has been out. Abbott also played capably, and Bakey showed up well in the line. The passes were not working as well as they did in the Clarkson game, but the running plays were executed more smoothly and were productive of greater gains, although they were played against a team of inferior calibre. More practice in these plays should make the team able to pull them off against Clark and at least have a chance of making an advance when the ball is in their possession.

Clark school has had a very successful eason this year, following their early defeat at the hands of the Dartmouth frosh, which was inevitable. Since that game, they have won three straight and have not been scored upon. Last week they took over a strong Montpelier Seminary team, 32-0. Their line averages around 170 pounds, quite a little heavier average than the Panther frosh can show. Outstanding in the backfield is "Tony" Geniawicz, fullback, who pulled off several long scoring runs in recent games. Last year Clark defeated the 34 freshman team by a 12-6 score here, but this year's squad is composed of almost entirely different men, so no comparison can be made from that.

In general the aggregation from Hanover appears quite a little stronger because of the string of their victories. However, Middlebury has been coming along well, and granted good weather in which to get ready for the game may hope to do a creditable job. A victory, however, can hardly be hoped for.

Panther Harriers to Meet R. P. I. Team Here Saturday

The Middlebury harriers will face another strong aggregation from the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute here Saturday. This meet should be the best of the season so far, for both teams have shown strength. The invaders appear to have a slightly faster team than the Panthers.

In their first meet of the season the Engineers were defeated by Colgate 21-34. The race was held over the Colgate course, and the R. P. I. runners were handicapped by mud. Three Maroon runners captured the first three places, but four Engineers finished in a dead heat not far behind. The time of the first R. P. I. men was 28-24 for the five mile course.

The Panthers scored impressive victories in their first two meets, defeating Williams by a perfect score of 15-40 and St. Stephen's by a 16-39 count. In the Williams meet the winning time was 30-8 for a five mile race and in the St. Stephen's meet, which was run over the new six miles Middlebury course, the winners completed the race in 33-15.

Against Springfield Y. M. C. A. college last Saturday, the Middlebury runners did not do so well, although Captain Ray Harwood led the field home with a time of 28-18. The next Blue harrier placed ninth, however, and the Gymnasts scored a 20-35 victory over the four and a half mile course. On the previous day, the Y. M. C. A. team had won the eastern intercollegiate cross country race.

From comparison of times of the Middlebury-Williams and the R. P. I.-Colgate meets the Engineers seem to have the faster team. Then too, cross-country plays a more prominent part in the athletic program of the Troy school, for it is not only a varsity sport, but intramural contests are also held. Last year, when the Blue harriers invaded Troy, they suffered a defeat to the tune of 23-32.

However, comparative times do not mean everything, for they do not reflect conditions under which the race is held. Then too, the Blue harriers will be running over their own course. This is a decided advantage, especially since the visitors have been forced to practice a good deal on hard surfaced roads. To sum it up, the Engineers are certain to furnish strong opposition, with a good chance to win, but the contest will be very close, and Captain Harwood has an opportunity to lead his team to their third victory.

Sophomores 2, Freshmen 0 in Initial Hockey Contest

The sophomore eleven won a 2-0 victory over the freshman team on the women's hockey field Tuesday, October 20. This as the first game of the season was a contest worthy of the several weeks of practice which both teams have had.

At the beginning of the first half the ball in freshman hands was kept dangerously near the sophomore goal until the latter rallying dribbled it down the field and Fernalld taking a pass from Major made the first score. The freshmen failed to tie the score and when the half was called the ball was again in sophomore territory.

The second half started with another goal for the sophomores made by Smith who received a pass from Major. The frosh then rallied and the sophomores were unable to break the staunch defense of Tucker and Whittier as full backs. A hard fought battle to the end of the game left the score unchanged, 2-0. The line-up is as follows:

PANTHER GRIDSTERS BEATEN BY MAROON

Strong Springfield Eleven Led by Captain Knowlton Runs Up Score of 54-0

A badly crippled Middlebury football team went down to defeat before a powerful Springfield aggregation last Saturday at Springfield by a 54-0 score.

Captain Knowlton was the big feature of the contest and made three touchdowns for the gymnasts. However, Yeomans did almost as well in his department of the play, getting off some fifty yard punts for Middlebury and placing them to perfection.

In the first quarter Captain Knowlton opened up an attack of end runs and line plays which netted the Maroons three touchdowns. Time and time again the powerful Springfield line flattened the Panthers as Knowlton's interference men made great holes through which he could tear off long runs. The first touchdown resulted after White had lugged one of Yeoman's punts back for several yards. Knowlton dashed through his weak side guard for fifty-five yards and the first score. A pass from Plumb to Draper left the ball on Midd's nineteen yard line and in the next play the Maroon captain ran for a touchdown. His last score of the period was made on a double reverse which Andy Reid made a gallant attempt to break up. Knowlton pushed off two men and dashed through the line for forty-five yards and the touchdown.

The Panthers made a gallant goal line stand in the second quarter and forced the Gmynasts to relinquish the ball on the two yard line. Yeomans got off a good punt but the pigskin was raced back by White who ran diagonally across the field for another tally. Hartrey broke through and blocked White's attempted place kick and the half ended with the score 27-0 for the Maroons. The second half saw the Panthers putting up a more determined fight. In the third quarter Owl and Dressel rushed the ball up the field after a punt by Andy Reid who was called back to kick in place of Yeomans. Mayer carried the ball over on a line play.

Late in the fourth quarter Bob Brown, Maroon half-back, made the longest run of the contest when he took the ball for a seventy-eight yard run and the last touchdown of the game.

so, to visit classes. It is expected that a great many will avail themselves of this opportunity, since it is impossible to do so at commencement time.

In addition an entirely new feature is being introduced this year. Returning alumni have often expressed a wish for an opportunity to see their faculty friends. To provide just such an opportunity the ladies of the faculty will give an informal tea after the football game, at the home of President and Mrs. Moody, 3 South street.

There will also be the customary "M" club informal dance at the gymnasium on Saturday evening, and Dr. Henry Hallam Tweedy of Yale university will be the speaker at Sunday vespers.

This home-coming marks the annual get-together of alumni and undergraduates, and is especially popular with the graduates because it brings back to them the true campus spirit of their own college days.

Let's talk Straight from the Shoulder

WHAT you want in a cigarette is taste. You want mildness . . . smoothness . . . and satisfying pleasure when you smoke.

All right then . . . get this straight.

CHESTERFIELD pays top prices . . . yes, and a premium for the ripest, mellowest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows.

The curing and conditioning is done by specialists . . . men carefully trained in handling these fine tobaccos.

IN BLENDING, also, Chesterfields are different . . . Instead of merely mixing the tobaccos together . . . we cross-blend them. It's like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco. That's how we get that Chesterfield flavor. Milder . . . and a more pleasing aroma.

Cigarette paper? Only the purest that's made is good enough for Chesterfield.

PICK UP a package. Note its clean appearance . . . free from heavy inks. It's moisture-proof, too.

And three big factories at Richmond, Durham and San Francisco—operating under the strictest sanitary standards—rush them fresh to you.

Good . . . they've got to be good. Because they're made that way. And most important of all . . . you can taste this goodness in the cigarette. You can tell it in the smoke.

Light up, Mister! Try Chesterfield.

Let the cigarette do its own talking.

You'll get the whole thrilling story, in just two words . . . "They Satisfy"!

"Yes Sir – Mild yet they Satisfy"
